

Importance of Life - What is Life?

"The amount of importance one gives to one's life, that is how important the person will become." This rule is true. Human life is the most elevated creation of God. He created man in a deity image. He presented the soul with full natural beauty and had made some regulations for human life, but these steady regulations were broken and this beautiful creation became an ordinary human being from deity and from a human being became a devil. Today human being is not a human, the decoration of mother earth forgot humanity, one feels human values to be outdated. The present vicious colour has decoloured humanity and humans do not know that they have become embodiments of devilish nature.

"What is life?"---- The philosophers have explained in different ways but it is not easy to tie up life in the limitations of words. We know that the living entity inside this body is the soul. When this body and soul join together then that is called human being. So the soul works through the body, with the help of his virtues and powers and this is called Life. Life is a big pilgrimage. The soul in the form of a driver sits in the body, which is considered a vehicle and goes on a journey. When this car becomes old or useless then the soul which is the driver of the body, leaves this car (body) and goes and takes some other body and this is called death i.e. when the soul leaves the body i.e. the soul renounces one body and takes another one, this is called as death of the previous body. Life and death are the greatest incidents of this big universe. Firstly both meet each other and secondly both part from each other, and the kind of role the soul has played while residing in this body becomes that soul's karma philosophy.

This life is like a meeting time for the soul with the elements of nature. The meeting of the two occurs because the soul should be able to enjoy its qualities through them. Gradually the soul gets so engrossed in this enjoyment that it thinks nature is everything and becomes subservient to it. From here life gets addicted to bad habits and the drama of life takes the wrong path towards self-destruction.

A human being has two wonderful powers – mind and intellect. With the help of these powers, if used in the right way, one can construct ones life and by using them in wrong ways, one can destroy life. But hardly anyone is acquainted with this. What is the mind? It is our thought power. The mind with the help of the brain keeps creating thought. It is always at work. One can hardly pay attention to the speed of thoughts. Because of this very few people think of controlling the speed of thoughts and even fewer succeed in doing so.

The most beautiful godly gift is the intellect. It is the beauty of life which enables us to go on the right path. But remember, the intellect is not the brain which is in the skull. This is an extremely subtle power. It is the power of consciousness in the soul. With the help of this intellect a person is able to decide this conscience. This conscience resides in the intellect, but sometimes the person fills wrong information in the intellect and kills its conscience. This makes life miserable and peaceless.

So to give importance to ones life means to give importance to mind and intellect, i.e. to give importance to each and every thought. Life becomes invaluable by making these thoughts invaluable and when the thoughts become corrupt the entire life becomes valueless. So it is important to give importance to intellect i.e. no dirt should accumulate on your intellect. It should not disturb you all the time. Great attention should be given to the intellect so that it does not become corrupt in bad company. Whoever realises the importance of the mind and intellect becomes great.

In the same way, in order to know the importance of life one should know the importance of every second, word and action. Time too is valuable treasure. To lose this treasure is to lose ones life. Those who keep wasting away their life will have to burn in the fire of repentance in the end. An ordinary person talks too much; only the sensible ones will know the importance of silence. Excess talk destroys one's powers and when powers are needed the person will feel empty. Excessive talk is not the virtue or royalty of a sensible person. A talkative person thinks of himself or herself as sensible but in reality more talk is the identity of the one with a dull intellect. So a person should learn to give importance to their words. Only then will others do the same. Waste talk identifies an aimless meaningless life. Actions can elevate a human being and can also degrade them. So if you want to make your life special then you have to give importance to all powers. Human life is really a golden period. We have to know its importance and not exchange it for stones/shells. Wasting life in eating, sleeping, earning money and enjoying carnal happiness is like being those moths who die soon after taking birth. If a human being does the same work as animals, what is the difference? If we do not have any ideals in life, if we have not left behind any memories or performed any great tasks, then what is the use of having an intellect?

Know the importance of your present life and time and acquire complete happiness from it. This life cannot be compared to any wealth. If anyone offers a crore of rupees in exchange for your eyes, no one will be ready to do so. This life is so valuable but many have forgotten its importance and made it not worth a penny. You can become intoxicated with God's love in this birth. You can become the master of nature in this birth. You have limitless power. Identify them and attain total bliss in this life.
